

Jasmine Birtles

Jasmine's knowledge of finance & business, together with her experience as a comedian, make her a perfect facilitator for any business conference.

She combines an ability to please & control a crowd with an understanding of business & financial terms. This makes her a credible & entertaining host. Jasmine has already facilitated conferences in Barcelona, Lisbon & London & recent clients include BT Worldwide, Sainsbury's & AXA Investment Managers.

Jasmine speaks on motivational & leadership issues, using her experience as a comedian, presenter & entrepreneur. She also co-presents workshops for people thinking of going freelance or setting up their own business.

Jasmine has been entertaining at corporate dinners & conferences for over eight years. She has a unique act where she turns up at the event incognito - usually as someone the audience would expect such as a PR girlie, an American Human Resources executive, a Labour MP, a Swedish Head of Marketing or perhaps a leadership guru & gives a speech that starts off as they would expect but then descends into humour & madness!

Her speeches are always tailored to the company & the event & always include jokes about members of the audience, of whom she has had prior information. Recent clients include HBOS, BT Worldwide, IBM, AXA Sunlife, Hewlett Packard & EMAP.
