

John Simonett

John Simonett is one of the most accomplished & entertaining after dinner speakers on the conference circuit today. Specialising in corporate events, he is humorous, businesslike, topical & clean.

John is a former teacher & sportsman. He graduated with First Class Honours from Bristol University & played Premiership Rugby Union, winning the English National Club Championship with Gloucester.

John specialises in the “tailored” presentation & works to a brief to personalise his delivery. He is not a comedian but prides himself in the use of humour to deliver an intelligent, stimulating speech, suitable for a business audience.

His ability to make his remarks appropriate to the occasion has earned him an enviable reputation at conferences, annual dinners & awards ceremonies all over the UK & abroad.

John is well known for doing his homework & has a phenomenal trained memory which he uses to telling effect. When appropriate, he often learns numerous names, details & other information about his audiences which he skilfully weaves into his speeches.

An eloquent, articulate speaker, John’s professionalism, attention to detail & many years experience provides organisers with the reassurance that what is often the most important part of an event is in safe hands.
