

JEFF PROBYN

Jeff will always be remembered as one of the key players of Geoff Cooke's dominating England Rugby Union side which won all before them at the beginning of the decade. Jeff is now a well respected writer and commentator for his sport and is fast emerging as one of the most entertaining sporting after dinner speakers around.

Jeff made his England debut in the 1988 Five Nations clash with France following his successful club displays for Wasps. He toured Australia later that year and he has also represented his country on overseas tours to Argentina (1990) and New Zealand/Fiji (1991). The undoubted highlight of Jeff's glittering playing career came in the early 1990s when he played a key role in England's triumphant Grand Slam Championships.

Jeff still has many contacts in the new professional game. He adopts an extremely entertaining and topical style to his speaking addresses and his amusing anecdotes naturally draw on the wealth of experience he boasts from the world of Rugby.
